Draft Increase Gradual; Local Board Is Prepared

21, unmarried, with a job or in college with grades: Contingent on a pre-induction exam, your destination in the months will probably be the States Army or Navy.

Colonel James L. Davis, Mississippi's Selective Service, in the wake of President Johnson's action in the nation's draft call.

Davis said Mississippi's Selective Service Board will be about 12 per cent of the national draft calls, which at least 420 young men from the state will be heading for and Navy training center.

What effect the doubling will have on the state Selective Service headquarters and local boards, Davis said it would be "not more work" on the part of the board members.

A veteran Selective Service board member said that local boards will be "most carefully" considered "most carefully" persons.

In a question of who is most vulnerable for the draft, the average age for men called in Mississippi is 21. He said also that the effect called in the state at 20 years, 9 months. Col. Davis predicted that the draft would drop in the future.

The Jackson and Hinds County Board No. 126, said the effect called in the state at 20 years, 9 months. Col. Davis predicted that the draft would drop in the future.

SET RECORDS

Cheryl James, nine-year-old granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. James Sr. of Bay St. Louis, set two state records recently in the 8-9-year-old Junior Olympics at Manatee Junior College.

Her leap of 11 feet 3 1/4 inches in the running broad jump topped the record of 9 feet 2 3/4 inches. She also made a jump of 6 feet 4 1/4 inches in the standing broad jump, while the previous mark was 5 feet, 3 1/2 inches.

Cheryl resides with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Jr. in Bradenton, Florida. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Banderet are her paternal grandparents.

ferments of engineers and scientific personnel who are critically needed.

Bemoaning the state's high 68 per cent rejection rate, Davis said it was necessary to call many more men for pre-induction physicals than would actually be called. Davis said the national average was about 48 per cent.

"POOL READY" Praising what he called "close cooperation" which he said had been afforded his office by the Armed Forces Examining and Entrance Station at Jackson, Davis said it was a policy to maintain a pool of eight times the previous month's call of eligible individuals at all times. Col. Davis said this was a "readiness" measure, enabling Selective Service to supply an adequate supply of men to the Defense Department at short notice.

Anticipating the President's ordering an increase in the draft, Davis said an increase in the number of young men reporting for pre-induction physicals at Jackson had been ordered. Davis said about 1,200 would be examined at the E&E center instead of a previous programmed figure of 800 for the month of August. Davis said he has been assured that the Jackson E&E center will be utilized to the highest degree. Col. Davis said an E&E station at Memphis handled inductees for North Mississippi.

Referring to young single men in college, Col. Davis said "I hope that every young man will apply himself at his respective school in order to maintain an adequate grade point average."

1965 SPECIAL ENROLLMENT EXAMINATION

Jackson Director of Internal Revenue, Mrs. J. G. Martin, Jr. whose district covers Mississippi, today reminded persons contemplating taking the Special Enrollment Examination in September that their applications must be submitted before August 31, 1965.

The examination is to qualify persons, other than Certified Public Accountants and attorneys, who wish to represent clients in tax matters before the Internal Revenue Service.

Applications and full information may be obtained from the Internal Revenue office in Jackson. Mr. Martin said this District's tests will be conducted at the 301 Building, 301 North Lamar Street.

GIFTS TO CHARITABLE ORGANIZATIONS

Mr. J. G. Martin, Jr., District Director of Internal Revenue for Mississippi said that his office will seek the cooperation of charitable organizations and fund-raising groups to provide more effective taxpayer guidance regarding contributions.

Because of a lack of understanding to law, sponsors of charity balls, lotteries, banquets, and athletic events may be misleading patrons or participants of these affairs as to the extent that their payments are deductible as charitable contributions for Federal income tax purposes.

Mr. Martin emphasized that to be deductible as a charitable contribution, a payment to or for the use of a qualified charitable organization must clearly be a gift.

Charitable organizations can help taxpayers in establishing their deductions. To do this, the amount properly attributable to the purchase of admission or other privileges and the amount being solicited as a gift should be determined and announced in advance of solicitation. The respective amounts should be clearly indicated on the ticket or other evidence of payment.

Mr. Martin also emphasized the mere fact that the tickets or other privileges are not used does not entitle the patron to any greater charitable contribution deduction.

He suggested that sponsors of fund-raising events contact their local Internal Revenue office when planning such affairs to determine the accuracy of publicity issued regarding deductibility of payments made by patrons.

NATION'S 4-H'ERS TAKE PRIDE IN ACHIEVEMENT

SPECIAL — Pride in achievement is a mark of maturity. And to nearly 2 1/2 million boys and girls across the nation it is a constant reminder as they acquire knowledge and skills in the National 4-H Achievement program.

Regardless of residence economic and social background, boys and girls take pride in their 4-H work, says Kenneth H. Anderson, associate director of the National 4-H Service Committee. Variety of opportunity is offered in programs ranging from automotive, photography, public speaking, health and dog care to conventional agriculture and home economics projects, he points out.

Adding incentive in the 4-H members' pursuit of excellence are awards provided by the Ford Motor Company Fund. Medals of honor are offered as county awards. And nearly 9,500 4-H'ers earned county recognition in the achievement during 1964. State winners receive expense-paid trips to the National 4-H Congress, Nov. 28-30, and during this event, educational scholarships of $500 each will be awarded 12 national winners.

A 1964 national 4-H achievement winner from the Empire State proclaimed "4-H membership is only a starting point... a first session in learning with which no classroom no lecture or essay can compare." She shared this learning and philosophy with a group of mentally retarded children whom she organized into a 4-H Club.

One of the problems of modern living is traffic congestion. You can help keep traffic moving by making an extra effort to get your car close to the curb when you park.

They spent two weeks in Long Beach as guests of their son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. John Darsam who accompanied them on tours of Knotts Berry Farm, Disney Land, Marine Land, where they saw Flipper, famous dolphin, and Bubbles, the whale perform. From Long Beach they went to Concord where they spent a week with another son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Davis, who took them on tours including interesting points in San Francisco and Sacramento.

Mr. and Mrs. Dardenne also visited with their grandchildren Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Wollick and Mr. and Mrs. Dutch Dardenne.

The bride-elect has selected her sister, Patricia, as maid of honor and Misses Jo Ann McCullough and Kathleen Schaefer as bridesmaids. Frank Ladner will be Mr. Cameron's best man and Wilmer Seymour and William Terry groomsmen. J. T. Ladner and Charles Tartavouille will serve as ushers.

comfortable cows perform better at the milk pail.

Cows must have plenty of cool, fresh water. A 1,000 pound cow gets 91 of water than a 400 pound cow. Cows like to drink often-several times a day.

So plenty of clean water, easily accessible is important. Stagnant ponds are not the answer!

And, the more water a cow drinks, the more forage she will eat and drink, the more milk they produce.

FORESTRY

It is time now to make application for tree seedlings. With the recent announcements of vast expansion on wood using industry, there is likely to be a great increase in numbers of seedlings requested from the Mississippi Forestry Commission.

Orders for seedlings are filled on a "first come, first served basis." So it is important that you plan now for the number you will need, where you will plant them, and when you will plant them.

Deadline for making applications is October 15, but the application period began July 1.

Species available include loblolly pine, slash, longleaf, and short-gum, sycamore, bald cypress, black locust, green ash, red cedar, tupelo gum and cottonwood.

DAIRY HEIFER MANAGEMENT

Heifers on pastures or grouped together after weaning should be watched closely to make sure they are not trying to nurse each other.

This is one way blind or spoiled quarters can develop in the udder. These do not show up until the heifers calve.

Once the nursing habit is developed, it is difficult to break. If you notice any heifers sucking each other, separate them until the habit is cured.

Some dairymen use a wire ring in the nose of the calf. This helps prevent sucking. Others have used muzzles or other type preventatives that may be bought in most hardware stores.

DAIRY NOTES

Research has shown that cool, All hay meadows need cutting at this period for better quality hay. A new growth will come during the late summer.

Johnsongrass should be cut as soon as the first bloom appears. Running the cut hay through a conditioner will cut curing time in half. This will help save quality.

Coastal Bermuda can use an additional 60 to 75 pounds per acre of nitrogen now for more hay or grazing.

MCFARLAND FIRST IN SAILING

Mrs. Rosemary McFarland with 13 1/2 points placed first in the Bay Bourbon regatta sailed over the weekend.

Judy Reeves with 11 1/2 points was second followed by Jean Reeves with 10 1/2 and Mrs. Lore Fassnacht fourth with 4 points.

The winners will participate in the Knost regatta at Pass Christian next weekend.

POULTRY MANAGEMENT

Hens and other poultry must have fresh, clean, cool water and lots of it.

During the summer it is a good idea to have a standby water supply on hand for use in emergencies. This could be a tank wagon, a pond or well.

FERTILIZING PERMANENT PASTURES

This year we are starting our fall application of fertilizer during mid-summer so we will be sure to get it out before fall clovers and other legumes start growing. Too, so we will be sure of getting it out. I would rather see fertilizer applied a little early than to wait too late. Any mixture of phosphate or potash is what we recommend for our late summer and fall fertilization.
